Patricia Ramos announced at the last IE Committee Meeting (10/26/15) that the District has decided to participate in two CTE data collections:

1. The CTE Outcomes Survey: In an effort to provide information on employment outcomes for students who have participated in career technical education (CTE) programs at California community colleges—including whether students became employed within their field of study, if their community college coursework positively affected their earning potential, and why students dropped out of CTE programs—the Research and Planning Group for California Community Colleges (RP Group) partnered with the Bay Area Community College Consortium and practitioners from around the state to develop a universally available survey methodology. This survey is based on completer and leaver surveys that have been conducted at several colleges and was tested through a pilot study in 2011-12 with twelve colleges, two districts, and one program of study (Medical Assisting) at seven different institutions in the Bay Region.

   The CTE Outcomes Survey has grown to include over 40 colleges participating in 2014-2015. Results are being used by practitioners to improve CTE programs locally. Results are being posted on the CTE Launchboard (a collaborative effort between Cal-PASS+ and the Chancellor's Office Doing What Matters for Jobs and the Economy). Results have been shared at annual meetings of the California Community College Association for Occupational Education (CCCAOE), the Research & Planning Group of California Community Colleges (RP Group), the California Association of Institutional Researchers (CAIR), the national Association of Institutional Researchers (AIR), the National Council for Workforce Education (NCWE), and the Strengthening Student Success conference.

   After launching the CTE Outcomes Survey and overseeing the project for the first two years, The RP Group shifted ongoing administration to the Office of Institutional Research at Santa Rosa Junior College (SRJC), which had been administering the survey on behalf of the RP Group. Beginning with the 2013-14 survey, SRJC assumed full responsibility for the CTE Outcomes Survey.

2. The CTE Launchboard, a statewide data system supported by the California Community Colleges Chancellor’s Office and hosted by Cal-PASS Plus, provides data to California community colleges and their feeder K-12 school districts on the effectiveness of CTE programs. This information is intended to facilitate local, regional and statewide conversations about how to improve student transitions from K12 to college and on to the workforce.

   In January 2016, LaunchBoard 2.0 will be released. Users will be able to view visual reports that answer questions like “are the right number of people being trained for available jobs” and “are there equity gaps in student outcomes” in addition to detailed data tables on student characteristics and outcomes.
Launchboard Features

Program Snapshot - includes program information and student outcomes that are grouped into categories such as enrollments, milestones, credentials, employment, and alignment with regional labor market demand

Common Metrics - enables colleges to upload and view information on 34 indicators used to track progress on the California Community College Chancellor’s Office’s Doing What Matters framework

CCPT Tab - a voluntary tool that supports data collection for California Career Pathways Trust grant consortia

CTEOS Reporting Tool - makes Career and Technical Education Outcomes Survey (CTEOS) responses more broadly available to faculty and administrators

Contract Ed Tool - allows colleges to gather information on contract education participants
