The Adopted Budget needs to be amended to reflect the totals of the departmental budgets. The current system of the Los Angeles County Office of Education requires Board approvals each month for budget adjustments. Only the net amount of the transfers in or out of the object codes is shown. In addition to the budget adjustments, transfers result from requests by managers to adjust budgets to meet changing needs during the course of the year.

INFORMATION ITEM 22

SUBJECT: REPORT: WORKFORCE AND ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

2018-19 Year in Review:

The Office of Workforce & Economic Development (W&ED) continues to focus on the Strong Workforce Program (SWP) including local and regional projects. Currently, the focus is on administering three overlapping performance years of SWP grants through 2022. Inclusive of other grants such as Perkins IV and contract education, SMC's W&ED Office is administering nearly $20 million in grant funding and contracts.

Part 1: Strong Workforce Program (SWP)

Since 2016, the California State Legislature has appropriated nearly $250 million annually for community colleges because the dynamic state economy depends on having a large, skilled, relevant workforce. That means, Los Angeles must continually support and refine its efforts to provide workers with the skills and knowledge valued in the workplace. Given the wide range of local, regional, and state needs, keeping up with labor market demands can be a challenge. The Office of Workforce & Economic Development at Santa Monica College and SMC's Career Education (CE) faculty are working to meet that challenge in an everchanging workplace environment.

The Office of Workforce and Economic Development assists faculty in resource development for career programs. The Office also helps SMC develop the education and training that students and members of the local community need to find careers and jobs in demand. Experts on the "future of work" agree that much of the current workforce will be disrupted within the next decade and in decades to come due to the increased use of computers, robots, and other automated technologies across all industry sectors. These include: business, retail and hospitality, healthcare, manufacturing, bio-science, finance, entertainment, trade and logistics, and aerospace, to name a few. While leading more 18-year-olds into higher education might have been a primary solution in the past, demographic shifts, changes in population, and migration of students may warrant a new approach to educating members of the future workforce. Further, it is critical that their studies lead directly to better, high-wage jobs in order to support their families and the economy.

Grouped into seven areas targeting student success, career pathways, workforce data and outcomes, curriculum, Career Education faculty, regional coordination and funding, the Strong Workforce program is driven by increasing the number of students enrolled in programs leading to high-demand, high-wage jobs. And improving program quality, as evidenced by more students completing or transferring, getting employed, or improving their earnings. As documented in the Career Technical Education Outcomes Survey (CTEOS), SMC is succeeding in these efforts (see attached report).

The SWP funding is structured as a 60 percent local share allocation for each community college district and a 40 percent regional share determined by a regional consortia of colleges to focus on the state's seven macro-economic regions. SMC belongs to the Los Angeles/Orange County region, which is governed by the Los Angles Orange County Regional Consortia (LAOCRC). Both the local and regional share require local stakeholders to collaborate with each other, industry, and local Workforce Development Boards. Program years 2017-18 and 2018-19 have focused on the execution of some of the most comprehensive and dynamic projects in our region and across the state thanks to the innovation and dedication of SMC's faculty leaders - both veteran and newly hired.

Faculty have designed, participated in, and lead programs at local and regional levels. Local and regional SWP funds are 30-months in length per allocation. In the 18-19 fiscal year, SMC simultaneously administered Strong Workforce Round 1, (grant close out) Strong Workforce Round 2.1 & 2.2, (awarded simultaneously) and has been tentatively awarded Round 3 SWP funds. This report primarily focuses on SWP Rounds 2.1 and 2.2 funding.

A. SMC Local SWP Initiatives

- 1. Local Round 2.1 (FY 17-18 expended by Dec. 2019) $1,310,864: The Career Education (CE) Committee unanimously approved projects that serve all CE program areas including CE marketing, professional development, new program development, industry forums, faculty professional development, and an industry engagement/job placement center and to support the work of SMC's Career Services Center.
- 2. Local Round 2.2 (FY 18-19 to be expended by Dec. 2020) $1,300,145: The CE Committee voted for investments in marketing, business engagement, professional development, work-based learning/experiential learning, new program development and maintenance, equipment for industry forums, and research for programmatic innovation.
  - a. A new comprehensive local digital marketing campaign is currently underway with SWP funds that compliment similar efforts currently being executed by SMC at the regional level. Sustained investments are intended to impact and improve CE enrollments, completions, transfers, and job placement rates. Communicating the value of CE, programs and how students can obtain short and long-term career objectives, is a major outcome of activities.
- 3. Local Round 3 (FY 19-20 to be expended by Dec. 2021) $891,721: Will be allocated based on CE Committee vote at the January, 2020 Career Education Faculty Retreat

B. SWP Regional Initiatives

SMC leads several projects for the region that benefit SMC at the campus level. These include: the LA Strategy, Innovation and Marketing (LA SIM), the Center for Competitive Workforce (CCW), and the CA Cloud Computing Program in partnership with Amazon Web Services (AWS), which are detailed below.

1. California Cloud Workforce Project (Amazon Web Services & SMC): Through a partnership with AWS, which began under the LA HI-TECH grant, SMC CS faculty, continue-to lead the California Cloud Workforce consortium of 19 Los Angeles area community colleges funded with SWP Regional Round 2.1 and 2.2 funds. SMC curriculum was shared with 18 other community colleges in the Los Angeles area and most are currently developing and implementing their Cloud Computing programs. The programming aims to equip students with cloud skills needed for careers in Technology and other industries. The practical application of skills and industry certifications necessary for entry level jobs makes a cloud computing program appropriate for community colleges to enhance their existing IT, computer science, business or web design programs integrating cloud managed services. SMC's faculty leadership is recognized at the state, national, and international levels due to the impact and scale of the CA Cloud project.

2. Regional Strategy, Innovation and Marketing: SMC is the project lead for Strategy, Innovation and Marketing (LA SIM). For all community colleges in the Los Angeles area. The methodology outlined in the regionally approved plan mirrors the methodology used by large companies to grow and protect their brands. In recent years, for-profit schools and market-driven non-profits have adopted this model to grow market share in education. To compete in the education landscape, community colleges need to include strategy and innovation. The Crossroads report produced by LAEDC with McKinsey & Co. was released in early 2019. Innovation refers to program innovation, and curricular innovation. SMC has led the region in numerous convenings of Academic Senate Presidents, General Education, and CE leaders across the region to communicate the LA SIM objectives, to share investments being made on their behalf, and to encourage a collective effort. While local community colleges may be competitors in many ways, there is much value in marketing CE programs under one large, multi-million dollar campaign. Simultaneously, professionally facilitated faculty convenings are helping faculty understand the competitive educational landscape that community colleges now face. One major outcome of these faculty convenings is to inspire discipline faculty to innovate programmatically so that community colleges stay competitive with the increase of competition for students. This must come with support for faculty as innovation is the responsibility of all faculty and administrators. The marketing component of the LA SIM project involves three primary components:

a. Consumer-Behavior Market Research:

Extensive market research was performed by the globally recognized firm of Lieberman Research Worldwide (LRW). Beginning in March of 2019, LRW utilized both qualitative and quantitative methodologies to scan Los Angeles County's targeted population to produce comprehensive consumer reports. These reports relayed how and why learners make "buying" decisions, and identified key segments that the regional social media campaign should design messaging and social media marketing funnels around. The findings were then shared with Collier Simon, the social creative firm responsible for designing the regional brand and social media content, as well as Blackboard, the firm responsible for developing the search optimization infrastructure and centralized call center to maximize and capture new leads. Four comprehensive reports and multiple updates have been delivered.

b. CCLA (California Community Colleges of LA) Brand & Messaging:

Once the market research report summaries became available, the global firm of Collier-Simon (CoSi) went to work testing new brand identity concepts and messaging with the target segments. Keeping in mind that the brand and messaging had to "stand out" in a highly competitive educational landscape, CoSi tested many names with students that they felt most positively represented all 19 Los Angeles area community colleges (LA19). Community Colleges of Los Angeles (CCLA) was selected. Complete with a collegiate emblem to elevate the perception of community colleges, a comprehensive digital campaign was designed. Collier-Simon created a manifesto for the LA19, and a stockpile of social media assets to capture the hearts and attention of our targeted diverse communities. The website and social media campaign launched on October 10th, 2019, and Collier Simon has provided monthly reports on social media with significant presence on Facebook, Instagram, and YouTube. Performance metrics have been provided monthly and shared with colleges in the region. The CCLA campaign has been an instant success in terms of people viewing the advertising and visits to the new CCLA website. It is important to note that many valuable insights have been gleaned that will assist SMC in its local digital marketing campaign that launched in December, 2019.

c. CCLA Website and Lead Capture & Transfer:

The regional marketing campaign has addressed the need to create a centralized point of reference (website) and contact (call center) to capture prospective learners once their interest was piqued. The competitive analysis report revealed that to "capture and convert" a prospective buyer of education into a student, there needs to be a precise pathway, in real-time, to next steps that addresses their pain and/or passion-points. Blackboard, the nationally recognized firm for building tech platforms for educational institutions, developed the CCLA.com microsite to link with the social media ads. The website, which also launched on October 10th of 2019, provides more information about programs at each college, and immediate access to support, 24-7, via a call center administered by Blackboard. Blackboard qualifies the needs and interests of the prospect, and transfers the leads to the appropriate college(s). Blackboard provides a monthly report on leads, conversions, and transfer to local colleges. As of December 19, 2019, Blackboard and Collier Simon reported the following stats for the CCLA marketing campaign:

- 15,946,681 impressions of social media ads
- 142,011 clicks
- 77,095 influenced visits
- 1,967 lead generations
- 15 leads generated for SMC
- 3. Center for a Competitive Workforce (CCW): Housed at the Los Angeles County Economic Development Corporation (LAEDC), CCW is a partnership led by Santa Monica College on behalf of all the 19 LA regional community colleges, LAEDC, and the Center of Excellence for Labor Market Research at Mt. San Antonio College. The CCW mission is to assist community colleges, and to customize labor market reports for community colleges, which is a unique endeavor. Specifically, CCW produces local supply and demand data to support industry-driven career education programs and workforce development programs. Equally important outcomes of CCW are to strengthen industry engagement across the region's talent development systems with the goal to train, educate and upskill a more competitive workforce in LA County for the knowledge-intensive industries that will come to dominate our economic future. This work will also address the talent gaps some employers face, and help balance the supply of skilled graduates with the projected demand of local employers. A balance which helps both job-seekers and local firms. Contributing to the deployment of a powerful research program, CCW convenes regional industry advisory councils and builds strong business intermediary systems that: 1) support data-based, industry validated CE programs, align to the regional economic needs; 2) knowledgeably and proficiently educate and connect students to the skilled labor force; 3) connect colleges to regional businesses to facilitate increased work-based learning, faculty professional development, and student employment facilitated by a job portal developed with Strong Workforce regional funds.

C. SMC-Participating SWP Regional Initiatives

1. Regional Round 2.1 & 2.2 (FY 17-18/18-19 to be expended by Dec. 2020): Round 2.1 & 2.2 funds were competitive among the 19 community colleges in Los Angeles. Two program cycles were funded simultaneously. SMC has secured regional funding led by other community colleges, for the past four years, to support SMC's Entrepreneurship, ECE/Teacher Preparation Pipeline, Energy, Construction and Utilities, Global Trade and Logistics, Cloud Computing, Career Pathways, Business Engagement, Noncredit and Career Readiness, and Advanced Transportation programs. Many SMC CE faculty are participating in regional consortia project activities on a weekly and monthly basis.

Part 2: Workforce & Economic Dev. Grants, Contracts, and Projects

A. Business Engagement and Job Placement

Wage gains, job placements, and placements in field of study are all metrics of Strong Workforce and SMC has accountability to grow these metrics annually. SMC participates in a regional project to support our local efforts. The project tests job placement models and shares best practices with our partners across the consortia. The most exciting of these includes a job portal developed by the Center for a Competitive Workforce (CCW). The CCW portal, a Salesforce-run platform, offers SMC ten free licenses. Members of SMC's CE Committee are weighing the pros, cons, and timing of implementing a CRM tool to meet needs and objectives related to employer engagement. W&ED is also supporting a work-based learning initiative (early phase), across divisions, including Special Programs, CE Committee, Career Services, and Community Relations to develop local opportunities in partnership with Santa Monica City and the Chamber of Commerce. In Fall of 2019, W&ED partnered with the SMC Foundation, Community Relations Office, Career Services, and lead CE faculty to launch the SMC Business Engagement Workgroup. Our mission is to develop a shared vision and ways to better engage employers across the institution.

B. Employment Training Panel (ETP) and Industry-Based Contract Education

Santa Monica College's ETP contract with the State of California, is a component of Contract Education providing customized professional development platforms to employees of local businesses, directly impacting our Economic Development objective as an institution. SMC works with training partners to administer customized training programs that off-set the high cost of employee-based training employers would otherwise be forced to finance and develop to maintain a high-performance workforce. SMC has trained more than 3,000 employees at over 60 area companies, and employer client surveys have shown increases in employee productivity, process efficiencies, and overall revenue. In December of 2019, SMC successfully completed the training phase of its 6th ETP contract with the State of CA, and was awarded a new contract in the amount of $749,906. Training must be completed by December 21, 2021. W&ED participates on the Executive Committee of the California Community College Contract Education Collaborative. This leadership position is critical for the institution to remain competitive and to advocate for community colleges to play an increased role in upskilling incumbent workers as the state restructures funding and governance under a new statewide office named The Future of Work.

C. K-14 Pathways and High School Partnerships

SMC continues to work closely with local area high schools to develop stronger K-14/16 career pathways that lead to SMC programs and ultimately provide clearer paths to careers. SMC completed its fifth and final year in the CA Career Pathways Trust (CCPT) grant, also known as LA HI-TECH, and has offered 105 dual enrollment sections in ICTE (Information, Communications, Technology, and Entrepreneurship) Pathways including over 2,400 course enrollments since 2015. Although the grant has ended, the pathway partnerships and opportunities continue. W&ED works closely with other Academic Affairs administrators to ensure high school partnerships are strong and effective student support services are provided to students enrolled in dual enrollment programs. Dual enrollment courses have been offered at several area high schools including: Santa Monica, Malibu, Beverly Hills, Crenshaw, Palisades Charter, and Venice. This type of collaboration and engagement provide high school students an opportunity to begin the career exploration process and develop career relevant skill sets, while earning college credit. These partnerships will continue to be crucial as the California State Legislature has newly appropriated $150 million annually to the K-12 Strong Workforce Program. Through this funding, SMC's high school partners can apply for funding to create, improve, and expand career education programs and pathways. SMC will work closely with existing and new high school partners to support pathway alignment work.

D. Carl D. Perkins IV

SMC received $743,056 for the 18-19 program year.

The Office of Workforce is responsible for administering the Carl D. Perkins Career Technical Education Act – known as Perkins IV. Congress has recently reauthorized the Perking IV Act. As such, SMC will be transitioning to Perkins V in next fiscal year. SMC provides technical assistance to Department Chairs and faculty on how to improve, expand and develop new programs in emerging fields. The District has maintained a strong record of meeting negotiated targets for performance with this funding. Every program being considered for funding annually must review their Core Indicators (CI) and address how the CI's will be improved upon with Perkins funds. Data indicates that employment outcomes could improve across all CE programs. Therefore, SMC leverages Perkins funds with Strong Workforce funds to develop stronger business engagement practices.

New and seasoned CE faculty are in constant need of professional development to stay current in their fields and to align curriculum offerings that meet the needs of business and industry. Faculty professional development has been utilized extensively for several years and that is a healthy state for CE. SMC faculty teach state-of-the-art skills that students need to compete in the current market place and are mastering new competencies required for current jobs in the regional economy, such as Cloud Computing, Marketing, Business, Cyber Security, Allied Health, ECE, Sustainable Tech, Digital Media, GTL, Gaming, Cosmetology, Photography, among other CE fields.

E. City of Santa Monica Public Housekeeping Training Organization (PHTO) RFP

In September of 2019, the Santa Monica City Council adopted an ordinance to enhance the protection of hotel workers, and issued an RFP to identify a Public Housekeeping Training Organization (PHTO) to develop and deliver a curriculum that effectively conveys the fundamentals of these new regulations, to the City's 2100 housekeepers affected. Santa Monica College submitted a proposal and was selected as the most qualified organization to perform on the scope of work required. SMC will be required to work independently with the City's hotels to train, administer an examination, and issue a Public Housekeeping Certificate to each hotel housekeeper who has successfully completed the program. The final terms of the contract are expected to be completed and signed off by February, 2020, at which time, the Office of Workforce and Economic Development will begin immediate execution of the work plan.

The training SMC proposed is aligned with outcomes of a program launched by the Office of Homeland Security and the American Hotel & Lodging Association in the summer of 2018 called National Campaign Against Sex and Human Trafficking. All hotels are expected to provide employee training, to be managed at a local level.
